MEETING PLACES CHANGE.

Changes have been made in meeting places and one in the program as follows:
All lectures and demonstrations on horticulture will take place in the Graham Annex auditorium.
All poultry work in jury room on third floor of the court house.
All soil improvement work in teachers' examination room on third floor of court house.
All general lectures in Graham Annex auditorium.
Instead of "Rearing Young Stock," subject in dairy section Tuesday morning will be "Cow Judging."

The Purdue farmers' short course got away to a good start this afternoon when the general program for men opened at one-thirty o'clock at the Graham Annex auditorium and the women's work began at the court house assembly room. In the absence of Miss Garvin on account of sickness, Miss McNeil is in charge of the home economics department.

The weather conditions could not be better, it was declared, to make possible good attendance at all of the sessions of the short course, which is by far the most pretentious thing ever offered the farmers of Rush county. Many season tickets were purchased this morning just before the opening of the course. It is also stated by the Purdue instructors that it is the rule that a large number of farmers wait until the second day of the course, when the sectional meetings begin.

The committees here in charge of the short course have spared neither time, effort or expense to make the short course what it should be. It is the hope of the committees that the various lines of instruction offered the farmers and others interested in agricultural development will get much of real practical value from the course.

A corps of seven instructors arrived here this morning at eleven o'clock over the C. H. & D. to take charge of the work. The car load of live stock to be used in the dairy department and for live stock judging reached here Saturday evening from Liberty, where the course was held the last three days of last week, and was unloaded Sunday morning.

Such an opportunity as the present one offers for men and women to get in touch with the work of Purdue for Indiana farmers has never come to Rush county. The instruction which the short course offers represents the very best and latest along scientific agricultural lines.

The program tonight at 7:30 will undoubtedly attract a large crowd of people. It is of especial interest here because Dr. L. C. Kigin, formerly of this city, will give the first stereopticon lecture on "Hog Cholera and Methods of Control." His lecture will be preceded by a short entertainment by the schools. The second lecture will be illustrated and will be on the subject, "Poultry for Pleasure and Profit."

Lectures will be given on hog raising, cattle feeding, dairy herd improvement, alfalfa, practical methods of maintaining soil fertility, poultry raising, corn growing, making more money out of horticulture, beautifying the home grounds, together with such subjects for the women as Housekeeping on a Business Basis, the chickens, and other important topics. In addition to the lecture work, classes in live stock and corn judging, in fruit growing and poultry raising, in dairying and in cooling will be conducted.

In the opening lecture of the course on "The Essentials of Successful Hog Management," J. W. Schwab, in charge of the animal husbandry work of the course, spoke in part:

"There is no State in the Union better suited to the production of high grade hogs than Indiana. An abundance of feed, especially suited to growing hogs, is grown in this state. Indiana is better located in regard to markets, climatic conditions and shipping facilities than any other state.

SHOW FOR BUSINESS MEN BLANKS FOR DELEGATES

Trade-at-Home Film Will be Presented at Princess Tuesday.

The trade-at-home moving picture, in which Rushville is set as an example of an ideal city where the people spend their money at home and improve their condition, will be shown free to business men at the Princess theater Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock by the exhibitors who made the film. All merchants and others interested are urged to attend. The picture was first shown last Tuesday at the meeting of the Indiana Commercial Secretaries' association at Martinsville. Shelbyville merchants had an opportunity to see it last week.

OLD RULE WILL BE ENFORCED RIGIDLY

Orders That Only Transients Use General Delivery Will Curtail. Clandestine Correspondence.

VIOLATION IS VERY COMMON

The local postoffice has received an order to enforce the rule regarding the use of the general delivery and hereafter no person who can receive mail by rural route or city delivery will be permitted to obtain mail at the general delivery window. The rule is an old one, but has not been enforced rigidly.

The general delivery is intended for transients only, but many people have been in the habit of calling for their mail. In cases where the delivery of mail is practical and possible and the person insists in coming to the postoffice to get it, a box is the only solution as no longer will the mail be handed out through the general delivery in cases of this kind.

One effect of the enforcement of this rule will be the curtailment of clandestine correspondence. Married persons and minors will find the general delivery a more difficult method of securing mail than in the past.

FEDERAL INCOME TAX LAW UPHELD

Following Decision of Supreme Court

Democrats Say it Will Produce More Revenue.

NEEDED FOR PREPAREDNESS

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 24.—The federal income tax law was declared constitutional by the supreme court today.

Democratic leaders in congress almost immediately declared income taxes will be used to furnish the greater part of the revenue needed for the preparedness program.

"We are now free to go ahead to revise the law to meet new needs," said Representative Hull of Tennessee, known as the father of the law.

As it stands, the income tax law raises $80,000,000 law; as revised it is intended by the administration that it shall raise several times that amount.

The law was passed by congress in 1913 following the adoption by the states of the income tax amendment to the federal constitution. The decision was made in the case of Brushaber vs. Union Pacific.

For the Use of Those Who Want to go to State Convention.

Clerk Taylor has received the blanks for the declaration of state convention delegates whose names will go on the ballots at the March primary. The blanks are in the nature of a petition and must be signed by ten voters of the precinct which the candidate seeks to represent. The petition must then be sworn to before a notary public. These declarations must be filed twenty days before the primary. As the apportionment of delegates has not been made by the primary election commissioners, no declarations are expected for a time.

NOVEMBER TERM CLOSES THIS WEEK

Case of Eleanor P. Hall vs. L. H. Mull and Lotta Lee Lockwood Continued Today.

NEXT WEEK IS VACATION

The final week of the November term of court opened today. There will be a vacation next week and on February 7 the new term will open. The case of Eleanor P. Hall against Leonidas H. Mull, Thomas K. Mull and Lotta Lee Lockwood, to set aside a mortgage and assignment, was continued this morning until the next term of court. This case was expected to occupy most of this week as it is an important suit. The affidavit and motion for a continuance was filed by the defendants and granted because of the illness of Thomas K. Mull, who is suffering from la grippe at his home Manilla. Judge Fred Gause of Newcastle, who is the special judge in this case, was here this morning to hear the motion.

Judge Sparks heard the divorce suit of Emma Moore against William (Sorell) Moore and took the case under advisement. Mrs. Moore alleged cruel and inhuman treatment. A number of witnesses testified.

Fern Mae Perkins was granted an allowance of $2 a week from Charles Perkins pending the outcome of her divorce suit this morning by the court.

ENDEAVORS TO FIND POISON'S EFFECT

State Chemist Examines Viscera of Hugh Wiley, 73, of Greensburg, Who Died of Pneumonia.

MARRIED LESS THAN A YEAR

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 24.—R. P. Noble, the chemist who is examining the viscera of Hugh Wiley, who died of pneumonia at Greensburg, Ind., wasn't yet ready to report today whether Wiley's power of resistance had been weakened by slow poisoning.

Wiley, who was 73 years old, died shortly after he had been declared insane. Suit to annul his marriage to Mrs. Wiley, formerly Emma Bagnby of Louisville, had been instituted. Suit also has been filed to establish legitimacy of a child born to Mrs. Wiley soon after Wiley was declared insane. The Wileys had been married less than a year.

Wiley was a Confederate veteran and fought under General Lee. His estate was valued at $20,000.

NEWTON CASEY FINALLY CAUGHT

Notorious "Bootlegger" is Arrested in Anderson and Rushville Police Are Notified.

SHERIFF TO BRING HIM HERE

Governor Ralston Will be Asked to Revoke Parole—if he Refuses, Trial Will be Held.

Newton Casey, Rushville's notorious "bootlegger" and fugitive from justice, was captured in Anderson Saturday evening, according to word received here by the police department, and later verified by Sheriff Cavitt. Sheriff Cavitt left for Anderson this morning at eleven o'clock and expected to return with Casey at three-thirty o'clock this afternoon.

Casey has been missing from Rushville since November 10 on which day the police raided his rooms over the Roth pool room in East First street while Casey was away and found a large quantity of "booze." Casey received word of the raid and proceeded to get out of the county. Saturday night the Anderson police called Policeman Yakey and asked if Casey was wanted here.

The case was turned over to Sheriff Cavitt, as he held a bench warrant for the arrest of the "bootlegger." Sheriff Cavitt called the sheriff of Madison county and confirmed the report of the arrest of Casey. The sheriff stated that it was positively Casey and that he would hold him for the Rush county official.

Some weeks ago a tip was received here that Casey was staying at the home of a brother on the National road in Henry county. A warrant was sent to the sheriff of Henry county but he failed to locate Casey. The local officials never despaired of capturing Casey and when the word came that he was arrested they were the least surprised of anyone.

The information coming from Anderson regarding the capture is meagre. It was stated that Casey was picked up on the streets of Anderson and charged with loitering. When he gave his name at police headquarters the Anderson officers recognized him as the man wanted in Rush county.

A new charge of "bootlegging" was filed against Casey, but before this case is heard, Governor Ralston will be asked to revoke his parole. Casey, it will be remembered, was paroled after serving a short time on a sentence of 110 days and a fine of $290. In case Governor Ralston refuses to revoke the parole, Casey will be tried on the charge growing out of the last raid on his rooms.

At the same time Newt. Casey left the city, his son, Eddie Casey, also left. The police believed that Eddie was implicated along with his father. No trace has been found of Eddie Casey. In the raid on November 10 which led to Casey's hurried departure from the city the police found a total of twenty quarts of whiskey. The rooms were literally filled with whiskey. Six quarts were found under the floor and Casey even had some hidden in an old slot machine standing out in the hallway.

Governor Ralston paroled Casey on the grounds of sickness and in the parole made it plain that he was to refrain from again selling "booze" contrary to the law. The attention of Governor Ralston will be called to the case and if the parole is revoked the trial of Casey growing out of the last raid will not be held until he has completed his sentence.

RACE GOING TO BE A TIGHT ONE

This is Indication of Report of Conditions Over State Concerning Watson and New.

WAGERS ALL EVEN MONEY

Former Progressive of Logansport, Supporting Watson, Says Fred Landis Will do Likewise.

That the race between Harry S. New of Indianapolis and James E. Watson of this city for the Republican nomination for United States senator will be a tight one is the general report from over the state, judging from Robert G. Tucker's weekly letter on Indiana politics in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Tucker calls attention to the fact that two wagers were posted in Indianapolis last week on the senatorial race. One was a hundred dollars even money that Watson would lead New in the primary and another was a like amount that New would get more votes than Watson.

The Enquirer correspondent says that the entrance of New into the race has completely changed the situation and that the talk of not nominating the "two Jims," meaning Watson and Goodrich, who is a candidate for governor, has subsided. He says most of this talk was started by McCray's friends who hoped to hurt Goodrich with it.

The most significant development of the week, in the eyes of Watson's followers, is the assertion of John Johnson, Logansport, a former Progressive who is now working for Watson, that Frederick K. Landis will soon announce his intention of being a Watson booster. Landis was Progressive candidate for lieutenant governor in Indiana in 1912 and recently announced his return to the Republican party.

The activity of Johnson in behalf of the former congressman of this city is a matter of great interest to Watson's friends, who have asserted from the beginning that there are many former Progressives who are openly supporting Watson by word and deed.

Johnson made the assertion that Landis would support Watson at a joint meeting of Progressives and Republicans at Elkhart last week.

As far as the Chicago convention of 1912 was concerned, New was as active as Watson in bringing about the defeat of Colonel Roosevelt, but he wasn't as prominent. Watson appeared before the convention as the floor leader of the Taft forces.

In the following campaign he was as vigorous as possible in denouncing the men who bolted from the Republicans, which is the thing that do much to put hog raising upon a more profitable basis. A better care of the brood sow and her litter is one of the most practical points to be considered in increasing hog production. Proper feeding of the brood sow and her litter at all times, and wise, economical feeding of the fattening hogs are important if hog raising is to be put on a more profitable basis.

FARMER'S SHORT COURSE OPENS 3 DAYS' SESSION

The speaker recommended skim milk, shorts, tankage and oil meal as valuable supplements to be fed in connection with corn for sows and pigs. He urged that more forage crops, such as rape, alfalfa and red clover to be grown for hog pasture. Rye and blue grass should be afforded for winter pasture. Sows and pigs should at all times be surrounded by the most sanitary conditions, and these are necessarily found when the hogs are given range rather than confined to small pens.

The women's program for the Short Course was given largely by Miss McNeil.

The first session was opened by a talk on "Housekeeping on a Business Basis." "Business principles need to be applied to the different processes in the home the same as in any other line of work," she said. "It is not the spending of money for new equipment wholly that will make the work easier but it is necessary to have more careful thought and planning."

"The kitchen is our work shop. We spend more hours there than almost any place in the house. It is necessary for us to consider carefully the equipment in our kitchens. In the first place we want some cheerful and restful color on the wall instead of dull steel blue grey paper or paint. A tan, cream or light blue will make much more pleasing wall colors. There are just two processes going in the kitchen: 1st, The preparation of meals and, 2nd, clearing away after the meal. All the equipment necessary for each of the processes should be near each other. The equipment should be carefully selected. Miss Farmer said, "Do not get something just because someone has said it was good or that she likes it; see first if the article in question is built upon scientific principles and if it will meet the demands of the one who is to use the article." All so-called labor savers should be used enough to make them pay for themselves.

"We want more thought, more system and more labor saving devices so that the women may have more time to devote to the family, to the school, to the church and to the community at large."

After the talk on "Housekeeping on a Business Basis" Miss McNeil gave a demonstration on the "Use of Cream Soups in the Diet."

"Much has been said lately in regard to the high cost of living," she said during the demonstration. "One of the large factors in this cost is our food. We are forced to consider more carefully the cost of our food and spend more time on the planning of the meals. Soups give a fine opportunity to have nutritious food at little cost. Soups are classified into two groups: Soup with stock, soup without stock. The soups having stock as their basis give an opportunity to use up the odds and ends of the meat that has accumulated from day to day while the cream soups are a means of utilizing what ingredients are left over from a previous meal. The "stock" soups are used frequently as a stimulant rather than a nutrient, but the cream soups or purees are more nutritious and should be used as the main part of the meal or as a first course to a luncheon when one would not serve heavy dishes following the soup. The cream soups are made of the vegetables or fish with milk and seasoning and it is always thickened slightly. Purees are made from vegetables or fish which are forced through a strainer and retained in the soup, milk and seasoning. It is generally thicker than cream soup."

Miss McNeil, in her demonstration, made cream soups and purees using the common vegetables.

"The thousands of bushels of apples that each year fall from the trees and rot on the ground in farm orchards can be made to stick to the trees and fatten the farmers' purses," was a statement made C. B. Durham, Extension Horticulturist of Purdue University, who is here with the Farmers' Short Course. The fruit can be saved by properly spraying the trees. Sprayed fruit does not fall off until it is mature.

Examples said to be typical were cited where the farm orchard made a net profit of $200 to the acre. The requisites for realizing large profits from farm orchards are thrifty trees of good variety, intelligent pruning, thorough spraying and occasional cultivation and fertilization of the soil.

Many of the farmers here were surprised to learn that there was hope for their unproductive orchards. Several of them are going to use the Purdue institution to advantage in getting free information on orchard management.

For Facts on Mexico.

HOPES FOR SETTLEMENT SOON

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 24.—President Wilson will not respond for at least a month or six weeks to Senator Fall's resolution adopted by the senate requesting information on this government's negotiations with Mexico. It was authentically learned today that it may even be much longer.

Much of the information, it was stated, is of a confidential nature and must be handled with great care.

It is understood to be the hope of the president that before he sends the data to congress conditions in Carranza's country will have reached the point where they vindicate his plan.

The president's decision is taken to indicate a belief that the plan to give Carranza a chance to prove himself has the endorsement of the country.

What Manager Raso has to say about "HE WAS ONLY A BATHING SUIT SALESMAN."

"Harry Myers has produced a comedy which is distinctly out of the ordinary. The action is fast and furious and it is staged in unusual surroundings. We accompany a fickle traveling salesman, and we meet all the young ladies whom a progressive salesman is wont to meet. We see him conducting a school of diving girls, are permitted to enter the pool and demonstrating parlor where exceedingly buxom blonds and sylph-like nymphs try on bathing suits, and we are admitted to a view of the salesman's home life. Particular attention is called to the many expensive sets constructed and used as backgrounds by Mr. Myers. The swimming pool is lined with marble, and the prettiest and most shapely vaudeville and amateur swimmers in New York were engaged to pose in the form-fitting tights provided by Mr. Myers. I personally endorse this comedy to be a scream and a spectacle, and as full of fun as a dozen ordinary comedies."

The Law of Competition

What do you know about the subject of "Competition?" Is there anything left for you to learn? Is it true that "competition is the life of trade?"

Let us see.

A merchant in a certain town has no competition. He has everything his own way. He thinks he has the people right where he wants them and that they will have to go to him or go without.

He runs along nicely for a time and then begins to get careless. You notice that his floor needs sweeping, the windows could stand soap and water, dust collects on the goods and the counters, and cobwebs are seen in the corners.

Soon he thinks he ought to make more money with less work. He pushes prices up a cent or two and his pocketbook gets fatter. That looks good to him and he shoves the price up again.

He doesn't take the trouble to study his customers, their needs, and the conditions that prevail, because he has no competition. His store gets dingier and less inviting, and it lacks that homelike appearance of welcome when his customers call.

In time the customers begin to get tired, for they feel that they are being stung. Some turn to the mail order man, while others go miles out of their way to reach another town. They want something for their money.

Soon the merchant notices a shrinkage and wakes up. He makes desperate efforts to entice his customers back to him. But it is useless. They have had enough.

This merchant's business has been irreparably damaged by his indifference, neglect and greed, caused by the lack of competition.

But there is another side to this picture—one that is brighter and is seldom turned to the wall.

Where competition exists there is life, and energy, and brightness, and where these things are the people will go.

Competition brings to the surface and into use the best that is in every man, where otherwise these qualifications would often lie dormant and without avail. And these qualifications when brought into play, attract and draw and hold the allegiance of the people.

The public asks no more than a fair return for its money, and if there is not sufficient competition in the home town to insure this then they will look elsewhere.

No man can expect to secure and hold the trade of any class of people just because he is himself. He may look good to himself, but if his goods are of proper quality and the price is right they will discount his personality a hundred per cent.

And competition forces every man to keep the right kind of goods and make the right kind of prices, and it is mainly quality and price that keeps the trade in the home town.

The more competition you find in a town the cleaner and brighter the stores will be, the tastier the displays, and the more attractive the price. These things spell life, and life is always appealing to the people.

It is competition that has developed and broadened our religious institutions, and our railway systems, and the thousand and one enterprises that are making this the greatest commercial nation of the globe. It is the outlet and overflow of unbanded energy and ingenuity superinduced solely by necessity and competition.

To compete successfully with an adversary a merchant must know his people, and anticipate their desires, and meet them half way in every step they take. The people can be won, but they can not be bought.

The most successful merchants the world has ever produced are consistent and persistent users of advertising space in their local papers. They advertise because they know the people demand it and insist upon having what they demand.

The local merchant what uses the advertising columns of his home papers. They advertise because they know the people demand it and insist upon having what they demand.

The local merchant who uses the advertising columns of his home paper, keeps the goods the people want, and makes his prices right, need have no fear of competition. It will make him, as it has made others before him.

But failure to advertise when competition is in the field is the best and most effective means of sending the buyer to the other fellow.

Now when a man calls his wife a "she eat," and she whacks him over the head with the rolling pin, how in heck are they to obey the scriptural injunction and dwell together in love and harmony?

That settles it—Ford's financial manager is no gentleman and not even a sport. He refused to put up the cash for new gowns for some of the fair dames of the peace party.

We wish you long life and much happiness in 1916, and it won't be our fault if we don't grab off just a little more than you get.

Locally, we know of no set formula for popping the question in Leap year. Just race up and pop, that's all.

And the bills of the past year have been duly received, and tucked away, and possibly forgotten. Pay up!

No spinsters in sight this year. Every one is adorable and of strictly marriageable age.

Be a sport, give your wife her own way. Even at best she probably got the worst of the deal.

When the war is finally ended every mother's cuss will yelp "I told you so."

Make it a year of justice, too.

Current CommentsWanted: Francisco Villa

(St. Petersburg Press)

In the spring of 1914, William S. Benton, a citizen of Great Britain, was killed by the hand of the order of Francisco Villa, the then revolutionary leader. The British government served notice on the United States government at that time that it would exact a penalty from Villa for that act. Today, a year and a half later, the British government, immersed in the great world war though it may be, is looking for Villa. If he seeks asylum in the United States or in Europe or in the Argentine, Great Britain will request his extradition to England, that he may stand trial for his supposed crime.

There is something awe-inspiring about the inexorable manner in which the British empire tracks down those who do violence to the person or property of the least of its citizens, in whatever remote corner of the world. It never forgets. It never pardons. It exacts justice.

The United States might well take note of this wonderful traditional policy of Britain, of caring for its subjects. How strikingly it contrasts with the declaration of former Secretary of State Bryan that American citizens remained in Mexico at their own peril! And now that decent government has been restored in that country, who hears the American administration demanding reparation from the constituted authorities at the capital for the wholesale depredations against Americans and their property during the dark days of the revolution? The negligence of Washington concerning Mexican outrages on Americans is the more astounding because it is so strangely inconsistent with the doctrine Mr. Wilson is promulgating relative to the loss of American lives on the high seas.

In due time, perhaps, the President will find opportunity to call upon Carranza for a settlement of claims having their origin in the revolutionary plundering. Meanwhile, Great Britain goes resolutely forward with her plan of finding and punishing the murderer of one lone British subject. The wheels of British justice grind slowly but they grind exceedingly fine.

IS NO ARGUMENT AGAINST WATSON

Contributor to Indianapolis Star
Says Fact Taft's Vote Was
Bigger Than His is Futile.

OTHER EXAMPLES CITED

Rushville Man Closer to Taft in 1908 Than Any Other Republican Candidate for Governor

The fact that James E. Watson of this city, Republican candidate for the nomination as United States senator, ran behind Taft when he was a candidate for governor in 1908 is no argument against his candidacy, because he ran better compared to Taft than any other Republican candidate running in 1908, according to a contribution to the Indianapolis Star by D. E. Purviance, which is as follows:

I observe in The Star of Jan. 18 the letter of Charles V. Cross of Indianapolis and your reply thereto, showing that the Hon. James E. Watson ran behind Taft in 1908 and that Watson's vote for Governor was 14,953 less than that for Taft as President. If there is any argument against Mr. Watson with respect to these figures, the same argument should apply in other Republican states which voted for a Republican Governor the same year of 1908.

Mr. Watson, however, ran closer to Taft in 1908 in Indiana than any other Governor in any Central or Eastern state.

For instance, Taft's majority in Illinois was 179,122 and Governor Deneen's majority was 23,164 or 155,958 less than Taft.

Taft's majority in New York was 202,602 and Governor Hughes's majority was 69,462, or 133,040 less than Taft.

Taft's majority in Ohio was 69,591 and Harmon, Democratic candidate for Governor, was elected by a majority of 19,372.

Taft's majority in Michigan was 160,409 and Governor Warren's majority was 109,853 or 50,556 less than Taft.

Taft's majority in Minnesota was 85,822 and Johnson, Democratic candidate for Governor, was elected by a majority of 20,178.

Taft's majority in Massachusetts was 110,423 and Draper, Republican candidate for Governor, had a majority of 50,156, or 50,267 less than Taft.

Similar figures apply in the states of Connecticut, Maine, New Hampshire, North Dakota and West Virginia.

Compared with the above figures, Mr. Watson as candidate for Governor in 1908 made a stronger showing than Governor Hughes of New York, Deneen of Illinois, Harris of Ohio or any other Republican Governor in any Central or Eastern State.

HOOSIER HISTORY

(Prepared for the United Press by the Centennial Department of the Indiana Historical Commission.)

"Sunday School Books."

The conspirators found it very difficult to supply themselves with arms without detection for the Chicago uprising. On secret information received from a lady in New York, the authorities found in an Indianapolis printing office thirty-two boxes marked "Sunday School Books," which contained four hundred revolvers and 135,000 rounds of ammunition. They also secured the official list of membership of the Sons of Liberty and private correspondence involving prominent men.

Tender Teeth—the first sign of Pyorrhea

When you brush your teeth, does it feel as though you were brushing against the quick? Do the gums sometimes bleed? This is because pyorrhea has caused the gums to pull away from your teeth, leaving the unenamelled surfaces unprotected.

Your dentist will tell you, if you ask him, that you have gum recession; and that gum recession is caused by pyorrhea.

Unchecked, pyorrhea will warp and shrink and deform the gums. It will break down the bony structure into which the teeth are set—and you will eventually lose them. To save your teeth you will have to begin to fight this dread disease at once.

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

But Senreco does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiteness distinctive of Senreco alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Start the Senreco treatment before pyorrhea grips you for good. Details in folder with every tube. A two-ounce tube for 25c is sufficient for 6 weeks' daily treatment. Get Senreco of your druggist today; or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Sental Remedies Company 503 Union-Central Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

"THE SONS OF LIBERTY"

—By J. Feudner.

In the last few issues of the Daily Republican which reached me, I noticed in "Hoosier History" reference to the "Sons of Liberty," a treasurable organization which existed during the Civil War, and which was organized for the purpose of assisting the Southern Confederacy. This subject called up old reminiscences. I came to Huntington, Indiana, from Germany at the age of 15 years, in the year 1869. This was only a few years after the close of the Civil War, and the subject of this war and its attendant phases were still the talk of the day.

Those who have studied Indiana history will remember that several leaders of the "Sons of Liberty" were arrested and convicted of treason and were to be shot. One of these men was Colonel L. P. Millikan, a lawyer and a resident of Huntington.

Col. Millikan was an unusually tall and broad-chested man, with a long thin nose, heavy eyebrows and piercing eyes—in short, with a countenance like that usually given "Uncle Sam." He wore "broadfall" pants, a continental swallow-tail coat (not a "society" swallow-tail coat) and an old-style plug hat. He looked the typical Yankee. He was a fine speaker and a good campaigner for the Democratic party, but having been convicted of treason, his campaign speeches lost considerable of their force.

I was personally well acquainted with Col. Millikan, as it was he who taught and drilled me in the pronunciation of certain English words, and particularly to pronounce the "wh" in such words as "which," "what" etc. The English pronunciation of "wh" is difficult for foreigners and it took considerable practice to learn it, but I finally did on account of my youth.

Col. Millikan's residence was about a half mile west of Huntington, along the Wabash railroad. When his arrest was made for treason, a special train came from Indianapolis and stopped in front of his house. The Colonel was or claimed to be sick at the time, but the officers carried him to the train in his cot and returned to Indianapolis.

In the subsequent trial Mr. Millikan, along with the other men, was found guilty and were to be shot, but Governor Morton afterwards pardoned them.

The Colonel lived to a ripe old age, and towards the last his connection with this treasonable society of "The Sons of Liberty" was forgiven and forgotten.

But merely by attrition some of their rough edges would be smoothed and unconsciously they acquired, no doubt, many new ideas and ideals of life, which enabled them to grow somewhat in graces, as well as in grace. And that many of the conversions at those rustic altars, which were accompanied with so much commotion as well as emotion, were real and radical changes of the hearts and souls of the converts was attested by their exemplary lives afterward. And not a few of the baser sort who came to scoff and interrupt, remained to pray, and were transformed, in a marvelous way not only into earnest Christians, but into good citizens.

Among that rugged, ready and resourceful group of men, the pioneer preachers, James Havens was conspicuous. With a strong mind in a powerful body, quick in thought and action, with unflinching courage and plenty of tact, he would have been a leader anywhere. It was told of him that starting at one time on a new circuit he was going to a place in the region of Cambridge City, where he was to preach, when near some crossroads place he was stopped by a big, tough looking fellow wearing a blacksmith's apron, who roughly inquired if he was the new preacher. Receiving an affirmative reply, he demanded that Mr. Havens get off his horse and get ready to fight, saying that he had licked every preacher who had come into that neighborhood, and it was now Mr. Havens's turn to be whipped. Mr. Havens demurred, insisting that he came as a friend to all, and that there was no occasion for any trouble between them. But the blacksmith insisted on a fight. So Mr. Havens dismounted and, tying his horse to a sapling, said that he never engaged in anything without first offering a prayer, and asked time to pray before the fight began. To this the other man grudgingly agreed, and Mr. Havens knelt down with at least one eye wide open, and prayed earnestly that he might be forgiven for his part in the wicked fight that was about to take place.

And as he would probably kill this foolish man, he prayed with especial fervor, that the charge of murder might not be recorded against him on high, and that God might deal mercifully with the soul of this wretched sinner, which was about to appear unshriven in His awful presence. Hearing the brush cracking, Mr. Havens looked up and saw the big blacksmith, who, apparently had just remembered some pressing engagement elsewhere, disappearing into the bushes. Mr. Havens called after him that he was now ready to fight, but his late challenger did not stop. It was said that Mr. Havens used to tell this story with great glee as showing the saving efficacy of earnest prayer.

DRESS WARM AND KEEP FEET DRY

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts and Get Rid of Uric Acid.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

HOW PREACHER HANDLED BULLY

Correspondent of Indianapolis News
Recalls Incident in Life of The Famous Jimmy Havens

HIS CHILDREN LIVE HERE

He Had to "Lay Out" Disturber at Decatur County Camp Meeting to Restore Order

F. M. Wiley, in a contribution to the Indianapolis News concerning "Pioneer Camp Meetings; How Some Preachers Met Bullies," devotes most of the article to dealing with some incidents in the life of the Rev. Jimmy Havens, who was grandfather of Mrs. John P. Frazee, Mrs. A. L. Riggs, Will E. Havens, Homer, Lon, R. P., George and Mrs. F. B. Johnson of this city. One especially amusing story is recalled of a camp meeting down in Decatur county as follows:

The famous Jimmy Havens was once preaching at a camp meeting in Decatur county, which the writer's grandfather attended, when such a gang, led by a big bruiser who was the bully of his community, came in and began to interrupt the services. Mr. Havens asked them to please be quiet and not to disturb the meeting, but, of course, they paid no attention to his request. Going down from the platform Mr. Havens, who was a man of powerful physique, east iron courage, and besides was a skilful boxer, walked quietly back to where the big tough and his gang were and began trying to reason with them. But with an oath the big bruiser launched a blow at the minister's head. Mr. Havens ducked the swing, and like a flash, landed his right on the point of his opponent's jaw and the tough went down and out, for in falling he struck the end of a bench and broke his right arm near the elbow. Of course, there was no more fight left in him. And his followers did not stand on the order of their going, but vanished at once. Mr. Havens had the man taken to his own cabin, and summoning a doctor, helped to set and bind up the broken arm, kept him over night and hunted up a vehicle to take him to his home.

But while a few snarlers got their limbs or their heads broken at those picturesque meetings in the woods, many more had their hearts broken by the fiery gospel which was vigorously expounded from those rustic pulpits. And as the preachers talked of righteousness, temperance and especially of a judgment to come, their vivid descriptions of the final abode of the unrepentant were reinforced by the lurid lights of the blazing fires which lighted the grounds. And the bench which served as an altar would often be crowded with the penitents while the camp would resound with their prayers and lamentations, and while the triumphant shouts of the converts who had passed from the depths of despair to the heights of ecstasy.

The purpose of those meetings was wholly religious. No attempt at education or entertainment was made and those features, while by no means entirely lacking, were incidental. Probably most of the campers continued to sop their bread in the gravy and to drink their coffee out of their saucers, as they did before.

WAR NEWS OF ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

A new Austrian offensive was developing in Galicia. Berlin admitted the loss of one of the Zeppelin fleet that raided English coast towns; also the loss of the armored cruiser Bleucher in the North sea. Artillery duels marked the fighting in Flanders.

TODAY'S ODDEST STORY

Devils Lake, N. D., Jan. 24.—Despite its name, Devils Lake is said today by A. L. Johnson, to be so good that a city jail is an economic loss. Johnson is waging a campaign to have the city sell the jail and use the county jail for the few cases the city may have. Johnson is president of Devils Lake City Commission.

Any items concerning your clubs, church organizations, entertainments, your friends or yourself, which you may send in, will be appreciated by the editor and readers of this column. Either mail or phone them to 1111, 3 rings, as soon as possible after their occurrence.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Christian church will hold the regular bi-monthly meeting in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon.

A dinner-dance will be given at the Social Club tomorrow evening. Aside from the regular dishes, the guests are requested to bring sauce dishes for the dinner.

Mrs. Ernest Mitchell will entertain the members of the Psi Iota Xi sorority at her home tomorrow evening. An interesting literary program has been planned and a large attendance is urged to enjoy it.

The Loyal Daughters of the Christian church will be entertained tomorrow evening by the Misses Letha Creekmore, Geneva Crull and Mrs. Ethel Harrell, at the home of Miss Creekmore at 307 East Eighth street. All the members of the class are invited and urged to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Buell entertained with an elaborate chicken dinner at their home yesterday Mr. and Mrs. William Arnold. The table was made attractive with cut flowers for the occasion, which afforded an unusually pleasant day for those present.

The Misses Genevieve Brown and Helen Scott entertained with a dinner party Saturday evening, which was small in the number of guests but large in the number of dainty dishes served. Each one of the things which went to make up the elaborate menu was delicious and was beautifully served. A pleasant social hour featured the evening.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB.

The plays of Bernard Shaw will be interestingly discussed at the meeting of the Shakespeare Club tomorrow evening when it will be entertained by the Misses Katherine Petry, Lois Fritter, and Edith Caldwell at the home of Miss Petry at 631 North Sexton street. The study will be preparatory to the lecture to be given to the club by Dr. Jenkins of Indiana University.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Honoring her seventh birthday Militine Cross was a charming little hostess to several of her friends Saturday afternoon when she entertained them with a theatre party.

The merry crowd of little people attended the "movie" and afterwards enjoyed a round of fun at the home of the hostess. In the delightful refreshments served, was included a birthday cake brilliantly lit with seven candles.

DINNER PARTY.

Mrs. Mary A. Sherman was the guest of honor at the dinner party that she gave on her eighty-third birthday, yesterday at the home of her son, Ed Sherman, and family. The elaborate dinner and pleasant social day was greatly enjoyed by the congenial party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Sherman and son Charles, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Harrold, and daughter Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sherman and children and W. S. Conde.

EMBROIDERY CLUB

The members of the Embroidery Club had an unusually delightful meeting Saturday afternoon, when they were charmingly entertained by Miss Pearl Kitchen at her home in West Third street. The meeting was made especially pleasant by nearly every member being present to enjoy the afternoon of sewing and chatting with congenial company. Near the close of the afternoon the twenty-five guests were invited into the dining room, made attractive for the occasion, where the dainty buffet luncheon was served. With Miss Katherine Petry presiding gracefully over the coffee urn and Mrs. Glen Thomas, of Chicago, and Miss Carrie Kitchen gracefully assisting in the serving, the guests were bountifully helped to the numerous dainty dishes prepared for the occasion.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Honoring the birthday of Theodore Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Osborne entertained a congenial company of friends with a delightful all-day party at their hospitable home south of the city yesterday. The hostess chose as the tasteful color scheme pink and white and carried it out with a profusion of beautiful pink carnations. A huge bouquet of them, tastefully arranged with greenery, characterized the center of the festive board, around which the guests gathered to enjoy the sumptuous dinner, elaborate in it's menu and charming in it's appointments. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in conversation, enlivened by several well-rendered musical numbers. Those enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Osborne were Mr. and Mrs. Elsa Hillgoss and daughter, Lavon, Mr. and Mrs. Chase Cross and daughter, Olive Frances, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. Dora Hillgoss and grandson.

PITCH-IN SUPPER.

The hospitable home of Miss Besie and James Morris, north of the city was the setting for a merry scene last evening when a number of their friends gathered to enjoy that popular form of entertainment which promises an elaborate dinner, with little trouble to all the participants—a pitch-in supper. When the contents of each of the well-filled baskets had been placed on the table, it was a bountiful spread to behold. The guests, however, report today that they did full justice to the work of the efficient cooks, who had aspired to and reached culinary heights in the elaborate supper. A pleasant and informal social evening was spent, in the spacious rooms of the Morris home. Those participating in this delightful evening were Mr. and Lowell Gartin, Mr. and Mrs.

Charles Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Chase Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gartin, Mr. and Mrs. Don Newkirk, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McManus, Mr. and Mrs. Court Oldham, the Misses Carrie McManus, Dora Winkler and Goldie Newhouse and Clarence Newhouse.

Amusements

The Gem will show a three reel comedy "He Was Only a Bathing Suit Salesman" for the program tonight. Harry Myers and Rosemary They are featured and is said to be a fine comedy with plenty of punch. The scenes are laid in New York, Philadelphia and Washington. Tomorrow night the eighteenth episode of "The Broken Coin" will be shown and on Wednesday Hank Mann will be seen in the big comedy "Disguised but Discovered."

NEW OFFER OF PEACE.

Rome, Jan. 22.—Austria has made a fresh offer of peace to Serbia, following the failure of negotiations with Montenegrin, according to a Vienna dispatch reaching here today.

FOR BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING COUGH, CROUP, COUGHS AND COLDS.

Make the Best Remedy at Home— 128 Teaspoonful For 50 Cents.

If everything was sold in as liberal and fair a manner as Fox Bros. are selling Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectorant, absolutely no cause for complaint or dissatisfaction could possibly arise from anyone. These druggists say—"Buy a bottle of this remedy and try it for Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Severe Cough, Croup or any Bronchial Affection, and we will return your money, just as we do with Schiffmann's famous Asthmador, if it does not give satisfaction, or if not found the best remedy ever used for any of these complaints." Why not take advantage of this guarantee and try this medicine, and get your money back, rather than buying another purely on the exaggerated claims of its manufacturer or on the strength of testimonials from others and run the chance of getting something worthless and also wasting your money?

In buying this remedy, besides securing an absolute guarantee of its efficiency from these druggists, you also get about eight times as much medicine as you would in buying most any of the old-fashioned, ready-made kinds, which average from 20 to 32 teaspoonful, because 50c worth makes a whole pint (128 teaspoonful) when mixed at home with simply one pint of sugar and one-half pint of water. This remedy positively does not contain chloroform, opium, morphine or any other narcotic. It is pleasant to take and children are fond of it. You will be the sole judge, and under this positive guarantee absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy. Druggists everywhere are authorized to sell it under the same guarantee as Schiffmann's famous Asthmador of "Money Back" if not perfectly satisfactory. R. J. Schiffmann, Proprietor, St. Paul, Minn. DESPAIRING WOMAN NOW HAPPY MOTHER

Mrs. Stephens Did Not Need The Surgical Operation.

Patoka, Ill.—"I had been married five years and my greatest desire was to become a mother. The doctor said I never would have a child unless I was operated on for female troubles and I had given up all hopes when a friend told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly for sometime, and I am in better health than ever, and have a healthy baby girl. I praise your Vegetable Compound for my baby and my better health. I want all suffering women to know that it is the sure road to health and happiness."—Mrs. GEORGE STEPHENS, R. F. D. No. 3, Patoka, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO BOY

Four Others in A. G. Fleetwood's Family Have Same Disease

With his three brothers and mother lying sick in the house with the same disease, Raymond Fleetwood, age sixteen years, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Fleetwood, south of Milroy, died Sunday of pneumonia after sickness of only a week's duration. The funeral was held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Milroy M. E. church and burial was made in the Milroy cemetery. Besides the parents, he is survived by three brothers and one sister, all of whom live at home.

RAILROAD DIKE AT HOLLIS GIVES WAY

Highest Water in History of Peoria, Illinois is Expected by Tonight at 25-Foot Stage.

STOOD AT 22.7 FEET AT 7 A. M.

(By United Press.)
Peoria, Ill., Jan. 24.—The Peoria & Pekin union railroad dike at Hollis yielded to the Illinois river flood early today and water is pouring over property on the west side of the stream. The terminal dike guarding the marsh drainage district near Pekin was still holding but it, too, was threatened.
The highest water in the history of Peoria was promised before night. At 7 a. m. the stage was 22.7 feet and a height of more than 25 feet is indicated. The highest former stage was 23 feet in March, 1904.
Hundreds of families fled to higher ground for their lives. Scores of persons were rescued in row boats.

U. S. CODE KNOWN IN FOREIGN CAPITALS

This is One of Things That Will be Impressed on Col. House During Visit in Europe.

CHANGE WILL BE DEMANDED

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
Berlin, (Via Amsterdam,) Jan. 24.—The supposedly secret diplomatic codes of the United States government are known to practically every belligerent in Europe, it was learned today. Col. E. M. House, who is conferring with American Ambassadors in Europe as the confidential agent of President Wilson will have this fact impressed upon him before he returns to America. Through him the state department will be asked to change its cipher.

It is now impossible for any diplomatic agent of the United States in Europe to cable a message to Washington without the certainty that it will be transmitted without its contents being known in Europe. In some instances officials of more than one belligerent country can know the contents of such a message before it reaches Washington.

BOMBARD DOVER STATION

German Naval Aeroplanes Also Attack Barracks and Docks.

Berlin, (Via Sayville), Jan. 24.—German naval aeroplanes bombarded the station at Dover, England the barracks and the docks early Sunday, the admiralty announced today.

Dover is a city of about 45,000, 66 miles southeast of London. The German admiralty statement apparently casts doubt upon the report that London may have been attacked by the German aviator, upon the statement that a Su.45 yq many Progressives hold against him. As far as the public was concerned, New's activity in bringing about the nomination of Taft ended at the convention.

He is not a speaker of the Watson type, and naturally he did not get into the limelight in a manner that Watson did. Probably it is largely on that account that the rank and file of the Progressives do not regard him in the same attitude they have manifested toward Watson.

According to Johnson, who is now one of the managers of James E. Watson's candidacy, there is no strong disposition among the former Progressives to demand the nomination of Colonel Roosevelt for the presidency. He believes that most of them are ready to co-operate with the Republican party straight down the line. Johnson has found a good deal of sentiment among the Indiana Progressives favoring the nomination of Justice Hughes.

PECULIAR FACTS ABOUT WELL KNOWN PEOPLE

Santa Rosa, Cal., Jan. 24.—Luther Burbank, the wizard of things that grow realizes that he is so "easy" for anyone who wants his money for this that and the other, (and plenty of persons do), that he employed pretty little Miss Bessie Waters to scrutinize every proposition offered him, to decide whether it is legitimate. Miss Waters attends all Burbank's interviews and is asked to give her advice quite frequently.

Don't Take A Chance

Rushville People Should Act in Time.

If you suffer from backache;
If you have headaches, dizzy spells

If the kidney secretions are irregular,

Don't delay—likely your kidneys are sick.

Rushville people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here's a Rushville man's experience:

M. Conner, cigar mfg., 1001 N. Harrison St., Rushville, says:

"I had backaches and pains through my kidneys. My kidneys were irregular in action. Doan's Kidney Pills stopped the pain in my back and regulated the kidney action."

The above statement was given on July 22, 1912, and on Aug. 25, 1915, Mr. Conner said: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills since giving my former endorsement, telling what they did for me. I believe the cure is permanent."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Conner, has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SECOND SEMESTER OF SCHOOL STARTS

Increase in Attendance Will be Shown, Supt. Scholl Says, Because New Pupils Entered.

SPECIAL COURSES OFFERED

The second semester got under way today in the public schools. The attendance at all of the buildings has not been checked as yet, but an increase will be shown as several new pupils entered. The attendance in the combined high schools reached 338. The class entering high school numbered eighteen.

Several special courses are offered at this time because the work in the general courses starts in the fall. In place of general science the new pupils in the high school are offered an advanced study in geography pertaining especially to political and geographical conditions in Europe. A short story course is also offered and a brief review of grammar and civics complete the list of new subjects. Supt. Scholl stated today that the outlook for a successful term was bright.

Both Political Parties Open Headquarters For Campaign.

It begins to look as though a political campaign was on in earnest. Both parties have opened headquarters, which is considered rather unusual at this time of the year, so far in advance of the real campaign. The reason for this is the primary. The primary really mean a separate campaign and both the Republicans and Democrats are preparing for it. The Democratic central committee opened the room over the Powell pool room in Main street today. The Republican headquarters over the Callaghan dry goods store in Second street have been opened for the past week.

MEETING PLACES CHANGE.

Changes have been made in meeting places and one in the program as follows:
All lectures and demonstrations on horticulture will take place in the Graham Annex auditorium.
All poultry work in jury room on third floor of the court house.
All soil improvement work in teachers' examination room on third floor of court house.
All general lectures in Graham Annex auditorium.
Instead of "Rearing Young Stock," subject in dairy section Tuesday morning will be "Cow Judging."

The Purdue farmers' short course got away to a good start this afternoon when the general program for men opened at one-thirty o'clock at the Graham Annex auditorium and the women's work began at the court house assembly room. In the absence of Miss Garvin on account of sickness, Miss McNeil is in charge of the home economics department.

The weather conditions could not be better, it was declared, to make possible good attendance at all of the sessions of the short course, which is by far the most pretentious thing ever offered the farmers of Rush county. Many season tickets were purchased this morning just before the opening of the course. It is also stated by the Purdue instructors that it is the rule that a large number of farmers wait until the second day of the course, when the sectional meetings begin.

The committees here in charge of the short course have spared neither time, effort or expense to make the short course what it should be. It is the hope of the committees that the various lines of instruction offered the farmers and others interested in agricultural development will get much of real practical value from the course.

A corps of seven instructors arrived here this morning at eleven o'clock over the C. H. & D. to take charge of the work. The ear load of live stock to be used in the dairy department and for live stock judging reached here Saturday evening from Liberty, where the course was held the last three days of last week, and was unloaded Sunday morning.

Such an opportunity as the present one offers for men and women to get in touch with the work of Purdue for Indiana farmers has never come to Rush county. The instruction which the short course offers represents the very best and latest along scientific agricultural lines.

The program tonight at 7:30 will undoubtedly attract a large crowd of people. It is of especial interest here because Dr. L. C. Kigin, formerly of this city, will give the first stereopticon lecture on "Hog Chol-

Shelbyville merchants had an opportunity to see it last week.

OLD RULE WILL BE ENFORCED RIGIDLY NOVEMBER TERM CLOSING THIS WEEK

Orders That Only Transients Use General Delivery Will Curtail. Clandestine Correspondence.

VIOLATION IS VERY COMMON

The local postoffice has received an order to enforce the rule regarding the use of the general delivery and hereafter no person who can receive mail by rural route or city delivery will be permitted to obtain mail at the general delivery window. The rule is an old one, but has not been enforced rigidly.

The general delivery is intended for transients only, but many people have been in the habit of calling for their mail. In cases where the delivery of mail is practical and possible and the person insists in coming to the postoffice to get it, a box is the only solution as no longer will the mail be handed out through the general delivery in cases of this kind.

One effect of the enforcement of this rule will be the curtailment of clandestine correspondence. Married persons and minors will find the general delivery a more difficult method of securing mail than in the past.

FEDERAL INCOME TAX LAW UPHELD ENDEAVORS TO FIND POISON'S EFFECT

Following Decision of Supreme Court

Democrats Say it Will Produce More Revenue.

NEEDED FOR PREPAREDNESS

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 24.—The federal income tax law was declared constitutional by the supreme court today. Democratic leaders in congress almost immediately declared income taxes will be used to furnish the greater part of the revenue needed for the preparedness program.

"We are now free to go ahead to revise the law to meet new needs," said Representative Hull of Tennessee, known as the father of the law.

As it stands, the income tax law raises $80,000,000 a year; as revised it is intended by the administration that it shall raise several times that amount.

The law was passed by congress in 1913 following the adoption by the states of the income tax amendment to the federal constitution. The decision was made in the case of Brushaber vs. Union Pacific

Clerk Taylor has received the blanks for the declaration of state convention delegates whose names will go on the ballots at the March primary. The blanks are in the nature of a petition and must be signed by ten voters of the precinct which the candidate seeks to represent. The petition must then be sworn to before a notary public. These declarations must be filed twenty days before the primary. As the apportionment of delegates has not been made by the primary election commissioners, no declarations are expected for a time.

Case of Eleanor P. Hall vs. L. H. Mull and Lotta Lee Lockwood

Continued Today.

NEXT WEEK IS VACATION

The final week of the November term of court opened today. There will be a vacation next week and on February 7 the new term will open. The case of Eleanor P. Hall against Leonidas H. Mull, Thomas K. Mull and Lotta Lee Lockwood, to set aside a mortgage and assignment, was continued this morning until the next term of court. This case was expected to occupy most of this week as it is an important suit. The affidavit and motion for a continuance was filed by the defendants and granted because of the illness of Thomas K. Mull, who is suffering from la grippe at his home Manila. Judge Fred Gause of Newcastle, who is the special judge in this case, was here this morning to hear the motion.

Judge Sparks heard the divorce suit of Emma Moore against William (Sorell) Moore and took the case under advisement. Mrs. Moore alleged cruel and inhuman treatment. A number of witnesses testified.

Fern Mae Perkins was granted an allowance of $2 a week from Charles Perkins pending the outcome of her divorce suit this morning by the court.

State Chemist Examines Viscera of Hugh Wiley, 73, of Greensburg, Who Died of Pneumonia.

MARRIED LESS THAN A YEAR

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 24.—R. P. Noble, the chemist who is examining the viscera of Hugh Wiley, who died of pneumonia at Greensburg, Ind., wasn't yet ready to report today whether Wiley's power of resistance had been weakened by slow poisoning.

Wiley, who was 73 years old, died shortly after he had been declared insane. Suit to annul his marriage to Mrs. Wiley, formerly Emma Bagby of Louisville, had been instituted. Suit also has been filed to establish legitimacy of a child born to Mrs. Wiley soon after Wiley was declared insane. The Wileys had been married less than a year.

Wiley was a Confederate veteran and fought under General Lee. His estate was valued at $20,000.

NEWTON CASEY FINALLY CAUGHT

Notorious "Bootlegger" is Arrested in Anderson and Rushville Police Are Notified.

SHERIFF TO BRING HIM HERE

Governor Ralston Will be Asked to Revoke Parole—if he Refuses, Trial Will be Held.

Newton Casey, Rushville's notorious "bootlegger" and fugitive from justice, was captured in Anderson Saturday evening, according to word received here by the police department, and later verified by Sheriff Cavitt. Sheriff Cavitt left for Anderson this morning at eleven o'clock and expected to return with Casey at three-thirty o'clock this afternoon.

Casey has been missing from Rushville since November 10 on which day the police raided his rooms over the Roth pool room in East First street while Casey was away and found a large quantity of "booze." Casey received word of the raid and proceeded to get out of the county. Saturday night the Anderson police called Policeman Yakey and asked if Casey was wanted here.

The case was turned over to Sheriff Cavitt, as he held a bench warrant for the arrest of the "bootlegger." Sheriff Cavitt called the sheriff of Madison county and confirmed the report of the arrest of Casey. The sheriff stated that it was positively Casey and that he would hold him for the Rush county official.

Some weeks ago a tip was received here that Casey was staying at the home of a brother on the National road in Henry county. A warrant was sent to the sheriff of Henry county but he failed to locate Casey. The local officials never despaired of capturing Casey and when the word came that he was arrested they were the least surprised of anyone.

The information coming from Anderson regarding the capture is meagre. It was stated that Casey was picked up on the streets of Anderson and charged with loitering. When he gave his name at police headquarters the Anderson officers recognized him as the man wanted in Rush county.

A new charge of "bootlegging" was filed against Casey, but before this case is heard, Governor Ralston will be asked to revoke his parole. Casey, it will be remembered, was paroled after serving a short time on a sentence of 110 days and a fine of $290. In case Governor Ralston refuses to revoke the parole, Casey will be tried on the charge growing out of the last raid on his rooms.

At the same time Newt. Casey left the city, his son, Eddie Casey, also left. The police believed that Eddie was implicated along with his father. No trace has been found of Eddie Casey. In the raid on November 10 which led to Casey's hurried departure from the city the police found a total of twenty quarts of whiskey. The rooms were literally filled with whiskey. Six quarts were found under the floor and Casey even had some hidden in an old slot machine standing out in the hallway.

Governor Ralston paroled Casey on the grounds of sickness and in the parole made it plain that he was to refrain from again selling "booze" contrary to the law. The attention of Governor Ralston will be called to the case and if the parole is revoked the trial of Casey growing out of the last raid will not be held until he has completed his sentence.

RACE GOING TO BE A TIGHT ONE

This is Indication of Report of Conditions Over State Concerning Watson and New.

WAGERS ALL EVEN MONEY

Former Progressive of Logansport, Supporting Watson, Says Fred Landis Will do Likewise.

That the race between Harry S. New of Indianapolis and James E. Watson of this city for the Republican nomination for United States senator will be a tight one is the general report from over the state, judging from Robert G. Tucker's weekly letter on Indiana politics in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Tucker calls attention to the fact that two wagers were posted in Indianapolis last week on the senatorial race. One was a hundred dollars even money that Watson would lead New in the primary and another was a like amount that New would get more votes than Watson.

The Enquirer correspondent says that the entrance of New into the race has completely changed the situation and that the talk of not nominating the "two Jims," meaning Watson and Goodrich, who is a candidate for governor, has subsided. He says most of this talk was started by McCray's friends who hoped to hurt Goodrich with it.

The most significant development of the week, in the eyes of Watson's followers, is the assertion of John Johnson, Logansport, a former Progressive who is now working for Watson, that Frederick K. Landis will soon announce his intention of being a Watson booster. Landis was Progressive candidate for lieutenant governor in Indiana in 1912 and recently announced his return to the Republican party.

The activity of Johnson in behalf of the former congressman of this city is a matter of great interest to Watson's friends, who have asserted from the beginning that there are many former Progressives who are openly supporting Watson by word and deed.

Johnson made the assertion that Landis would support Watson at a joint meeting of Progressives and Republicans at Elkhart last week.

As far as the Chicago convention of 1912 was concerned, New was as active as Watson in bringing about the defeat of Colonel Roosevelt, but he wasn't as prominent. Watson appeared before the convention as the floor leader of the Taft forces.

In the following campaign he was as vigorous as possible in denouncing the men who bolted from the Republicans, which is the thing that do much to put hog raising upon a more profitable basis. A better care of the brood sow and her litter is one of the most practical points to be considered in increasing hog production. Proper feeding of the brood sow and her litter at all times, and wise, economical feeding of the fattening hogs are important if hog raising is to be put on a more profitable basis."

The speaker recommended skim milk, shorts, tankage and oil meal as valuable supplements to be fed in connection with corn for sows and pigs. He urged that more forage crops, such as rape, alfalfa and red clover, to be grown for hog pasture. Rye and blue grass should be afforded for winter pasture. Sows and pigs should at all times be surrounded by the most sanitary conditions, and these are necessarily found when the hogs are given range rather than confined to small pens.

The women's program for the Short Course was given largely by Miss McNeil.

The first session was opened by a talk on "Housekeeping on a Business Basis." "Business principles need to be applied to the different processes in the home the same as in any other line of work," she said. "It is not the spending of money for new equipment wholly that will make the work easier but it is necessary to have more careful thought and planning."

"The kitchen is our work shop. We spend more hours there than almost any place in the house. It is necessary for us to consider carefully the equipment in our kitchens. In the first place we want some cheerful and restful color on the wall instead of dull steel blue grey paper or paint. A tan, cream or light blue will make much more pleasing wall colors. There are just two processes going in the kitchen: 1st, The preparation of meals and, 2nd, clearing away after the meal. All the equipment necessary for each of the processes should be near each other. The equipment should be carefully selected. Miss Farmer said, "Do not get something just because someone has said it was good or that she likes it; see first if the article in question is built upon scientific principles and if it will meet the demands of the one who is to use the article." All so-called labor savers should be used enough to make them pay for themselves.

"We want more thought, more system and more labor saving devices so that the women may have more time to devote to the family, to the school, to the church and to the community at large."

After the talk on "Housekeeping on a Business Basis" Miss McNeil gave a demonstration on the "Use of Cream Soups in the Diet."

"Much has been said lately in regard to the high cost of living," she said during the demonstration. "One of the large factors in this cost is our food. We are forced to consider more carefully the cost of our food and spend more time on the planning of the meals. Soups give a fine opportunity to have nutritious food at little cost. Soups are classified into two groups: Soup with stock, soup without stock. The soups having stock as their basis give an opportunity to use up the odds and ends of the meat that has accumulated from day to day while the cream soups are a means of utilizing what ingredients are left over from a previous meal. The "stock" soups are used frequently as a stimulant rather than a nutrient, but the cream soups or purees are more nutritious and should be used as the main part of the meal or as a first course to a luncheon when one would not serve heavy dishes following the soup. The cream soups are made of the vegetables or fish with milk and seasoning and it is always thickened slightly. Purees are made from vegetables or fish which are forced through a strainer and retained in the soup, milk and seasoning. It is generally thicker than cream soup."

Miss McNeil, in her demonstration, made cream soups and purees using the common vegetables.

"The thousands of bushels of apples that each year fall from the trees and rot on the ground in farm orchards can be made to stick to the trees and fatten the farmers' purses," was a statement made C. B. Durham, Extension Horticulturist of Purdue University, who is here with the Farmers' Short Course. The fruit can be saved by properly spraying the trees. Sprayed fruit does not fall off until it is mature.

Examples said to be typical were cited where the farm orchard made a net profit of $200 to the acre. The requisites for realizing large profits from farm orchards are thrifty trees of good variety, intelligent pruning, thorough spraying and occasional cultivation and fertilization of the soil.

Many of the farmers here were surprised to learn that there was hope for their unproductive orchards. Several of them are going to use the Purdue institution to advantage in getting free information on orchard management.

Manilla teams were defeated twice on their own floor Saturday night. The independents lost a hard-fought game to Columbus Commercial, one of the strongest independent teams in the state, by the narrow margin of 30 to 26. Verl Bebout of Rushville played a part of the time with Manilla. The Homer high school won from the Manilla high school, 30 to 15.

$100,000 FIRE IN MISHAWAKA.

(By United Press.)

CORN JUDGING IS STARTED

Prize Winners Will Likely be Announced by Tomorrow.

When the judge began to make the awards in the corn show in the sheriff's office in the court house this afternoon, there were two hundred and fifty ears in the class for the best ten ears of yellow corn, eighty in the class for the best ten ears of white, fifteen entries in the class for the best ear of yellow corn and nine entries for the prize in the event for the best ear of white corn. A member of the staff of the farmers short course here was to do the judging. Prize winners probably will be announced tomorrow.

President Wilson Will Not Respond at Once to Resolution Calling For Facts on Mexico.

HOPES FOR SETTLEMENT SOON

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 24.—President Wilson will not respond for at least a month or six weeks to Senator Fall's resolution adopted by the senate requesting information on this government's negotiations with Mexico. It was authentically learned today that it may even be much longer.

Much of the information, it was stated, is of a confidential nature and must be handled with great care.

It is understood to be the hope of the president that before he sends the data to congress conditions in Carranza's country will have reached the point where they vindicate his plan.

The president's decision is taken to indicate a belief that the plan to give Carranza a chance to prove himself has the endorsement of the country.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights. Cleanse the blood, the bowels and the liver with Olive Tablets. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the successful substitute for calomel—there's never any sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O.

Your Successful Neighbors

Many of your neighbors have prospered and seem to have funds of their own and to command more when they need them in carrying out their plans. How do they manage it?

Undoubtedly, in practically every case, their banking relations have been a large factor in their comfortable circumstances. The man who uses his bank as the bank wants him to use it, has a powerful ally working with him.

The Rush County National Bank especially desires to place its facilities at the disposal of serious minded people of modest resources, with a view to aiding in their financial growth.

UP-TO-NOW IN DESIGN

Designs as shown by some firms are more or less freakish or fadish to attract the attention of the prospective customers with scarcely a thought of their wearing appearance or correctness in proportion. But then they are merely on paper and represent but a small loss if they don't take.

We have faith in our ability as rational designers and as proof we show at our works a most complete selection of ready to erect monuments designed by our nationally recognized designers.

What Manager Razor has to say about "HE WAS ONLY A BATHING SUIT SALESMAN."

"Harry Myers has produced a comedy which is distinctively out of the ordinary. The action is fast and furious and it is staged in unusual surroundings. We accompany a fickle traveling salesman, and we meet all the young ladies whom a progressive salesman is wont to meet. We see him conducting a school of diving girls, are permitted to enter the pool and demonstrating parlor where exceedingly buxom blonds and slyph-like nymphs try on bathing suits, and we are admitted to a view of the salesman's home life. Particular attention is called to the many expensive sets constructed and used as backgrounds by Mr. Myers. The swimming pool is lined with marble, and the prettiest and most shapely vaudeville and amateur swimmers in New York were engaged to pose in the form-fitting tights provided by Mr. Myers. I personally endorse this comedy to be a scream and a spectacle, and as full of fun as a dozen ordinary comedies."

The Law of Competition

What do you know about the subject of "Competition?" Is there anything left for you to learn? Is it true that "competition is the life of trade?"

Let us see.

A merchant in a certain town has no competition. He has everything his own way. He thinks he has the people right where he wants them and that they will have to go to him or go without.

He runs along nicely for a time and then begins to get careless. You notice that his floor needs sweeping, the windows could stand soap and water, dust collects on the goods and the counters, and cobwebs are seen in the corners.

Soon he thinks he ought to make more money with less work. He pushes prices up a cent or two and his pocketbook gets fatter. That looks good to him and he shoves the price up again.

He doesn't take the trouble to study his customers, their needs, and the conditions that prevail, because he has no competition. His store gets dingier and less inviting, and it lacks that homelike appearance of welcome when his customers call.

In time the customers begin to get tired, for they feel that they are being stung. Some turn to the mail order man, while others go miles out of their way to reach another town. They want something for their money.

Soon the merchant notices a shrinkage and wakes up. He makes desperate efforts to entice his customers back to him. But it is useless. They have had enough.

This merchant's business has been irreparably damaged by his indifference, neglect and greed, caused by the lack of competition.

But there is another side to this picture—one that is brighter and is seldom turned to the wall.

Where competition exists there is life, and energy, and brightness, and where these things are the people will go.

Competition brings to the surface and into use the best that is in every man, where otherwise these qualifications would often lie dormant and without avail. And these qualifications when brought into play, attract and draw and hold the allegiance of the people.

The public asks no more than a fair return for its money, and if there is not sufficient competition in the home town to insure this then they will look elsewhere.

No man can expect to secure and hold the trade of any class of people just because he is himself. He may look good to himself, but if his goods are of proper quality and the price is right they will discount his personality a hundred per cent.

And competition forces every man to keep the right kind of goods and make the right kind of prices, and it is mainly quality and price that keeps the trade in the home town.

The more competition you find in a town the cleaner and brighter the stores will be, the tastier the displays, and the more attractive the price. These things spell life, and life is always appealing to the people.

It is competition that has developed and broadened our religious institutions, and our railway systems, and the thousand and one enterprises that are making this the greatest commercial nation of the globe. It is the outlet and overflow of unbounded energy and ingenuity superinduced solely by necessity and competition.

To compete successfully with an adversary a merchant must know his people, and anticipate their desires, and meet them half way in every step they take. The people can be won, but they can not be bought.

The most successful merchants the world has ever produced are consistent and persistent users of advertising space in their local papers. They advertise because they know the people demand it and insist upon having what they demand.

The local merchant who uses the advertising columns of his home paper, keeps the goods the people want, and makes his prices right, need have no fear of competition. It will make him, as it has made others before him.

But failure to advertise when competition is in the field is the best and most effective means of sending the buyer to the other fellow.

Now when a man calls his wife a "she cat," and she whacks him over the head with the rolling pin, how in heck are they to obey the scriptural injunction and dwell together in love and harmony?

That settles it—Ford's financial manager is no gentleman and not even a sport. He refused to put up the cash for new gowns for some of the fair dames of the peace party.

We wish you long life and much happiness in 1916, and it won't be our fault if we don't grab off just a little more than you get.

Locally, we know of no set formula for popping the question in Leap year. Just race up and pop, that's all.

And the bills of the past year have been duly received, and tucked away, and possibly forgotten. Pay up!

No spinsters in sight this year. Every one is adorable and of strictly marriageable age.

Be a sport, give your wife her own way. Even at best she probably got the worst of the deal.

When the war is finally ended every mother's cuss will yelp "I told you so."

Make it a year of justice, too.

Wanted: Francisco Villa

(St. Petersburg Press)

In the spring of 1914, William S. Benton, a citizen of Great Britain, was killed by the hand of the order of Francisco Villa, the then revolutionary leader. The British government served notice on the United States government at that time that it would exact a penalty from Villa for that act. Today, a year and a half later, the British government, immersed in the great world war though it may be, is looking for Villa. If he seeks asylum in the United States or in Europe or in the Argentine, Great Britain will request his extradition to England, that he may stand trial for his supposed crime.

There is something awe-inspiring about the inexorable manner in which the British empire tracks down those who do violence to the person or property of the least of its citizens, in whatever remote corner of the world. It never forgets. It never pardons. It exacts justice.

The United States might well take note of this wonderful traditional policy of Britain, of caring for its subjects. How strikingly it contrasts with the declaration of former Secretary of State Bryan that American citizens remained in Mexico at their own peril! And now that decent government has been restored in that country, who hears the American administration demanding reparation from the constituted authorities at the capital for the wholesale depredations against Americans and their property during the dark days of the revolution? The negligence of Washington concerning Mexican outrages on Americans is the more astounding because it is so strangely inconsistent with the doctrine Mr. Wilson is promulgating relative to the loss of American lives on the high seas.

In due time, perhaps, the President will find opportunity to call upon Carranza for a settlement of claims having their origin in the revolutionary plundering. Meanwhile, Great Britain goes resolutely forward with her plan of finding and punishing the murderer of one lone British subject. The wheels of British justice grind slowly but they grind exceedingly fine.

IS NO ARGUMENT AGAINST WATSON

Contributor to Indianapolis Star

Says Fact Taft's Vote Was
Bigger Than His Is Futile.

OTHER EXAMPLES CITED

Rushville Man Closer to Taft in 1908 Than Any Other Republican Candidate for Governor

The fact that James E. Watson of this city, Republican candidate for the nomination as United States senator, ran behind Taft when he was a candidate for governor in 1908 is no argument against his candidacy, because he ran better compared to Taft than any other Republican candidate running in 1908, according to a contribution to the Indianapolis Star by D. E. Purviance, which is as follows:

I observe in The Star of Jan. 18 the letter of Charles V. Cross of Indianapolis and your reply thereto, showing that the Hon. James E. Watson ran behind Taft in 1908 and that Watson's vote for Governor was 14,953 less than that for Taft as President. If there is any argument against Mr. Watson with respect to these figures, the same argument should apply in other Republican states which voted for a Republican Governor the same year of 1908.

Mr. Watson, however, ran closer to Taft in 1908 in Indiana than any other Governor in any Central or Eastern state.

For instance, Taft's majority in Illinois was 179,122 and Governor Deneen's majority was 23,164 or 155,958 less than Taft.

Taft's majority in New York was 202,602 and Governor Hughes's majority was 69,462, or 133,040 less than Taft.

Taft's majority in Ohio was 69,591 and Harmon, Democratic candidate for Governor, was elected by a majority of 19,372.

Taft's majority in Michigan was 160,409 and Governor Warren's majority was 109,853 or 50,556 less than Taft.

Taft's majority in Minnesota was 85,822 and Johnson, Democratic candidate for Governor, was elected by a majority of 20,178.

Taft's majority in Massachusetts was 110,423 and Draper, Republican candidate for Governor, had a majority of 50,156, or 50,267 less than Taft.

Similar figures apply in the states of Connecticut, Maine, New Hampshire, North Dakota and West Virginia.

Compared with the above figures, Mr. Watson as candidate for Governor in 1908 made a stronger showing than Governor Hughes of New York, Deneen of Illinois, Harris of Ohio or any other Republican Governor in any Central or Eastern State.

HOOSIER HISTORY

(Prepared for the United Press by the Centennial Department of the Indiana Historical Commission.)

"Sunday School Books."

The conspirators found it very difficult to supply themselves with arms without detection for the Chicago uprising. On secret information received from a lady in New York, the authorities found in an Indianapolis printing office thirty-two boxes marked "Sunday School Books," which contained four hundred revolvers and 135,000 rounds of ammunition. They also secured the official list of membership of the Sons of Liberty and private correspondence involving prominent men.

Tender Teeth—the first sign of Pyorrhea

When you brush your teeth, does it feel as though you were brushing against the quick? Do the gums sometimes bleed? This is because pyorrhea has caused the gums to pull away from your teeth, leaving the unenamelled surfaces unprotected.

Your dentist will tell you, if you ask him, that you have gum recession; and that gum recession is caused by pyorrhea.

Unchecked, pyorrhea will warp and shrink and deform the gums. It will break down the bony structure into which the teeth are set—and you will eventually lose them. To save your teeth you will have to begin to fight this dread disease at once.

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

But Senreco does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiteness distinctive of Senreco alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Start the Senreco treatment before pyorrhea grips you for good. Details in folder with every tube. A two-ounce tube for 25c is sufficient for 6 weeks' daily treatment. Get Senreco of your druggist today; or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Santal Remedies Company 503 Union-Central Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

"THE SONS OF LIBERTY"

—By J. Feudner.

In the last few issues of the Daily Republican which reached me, I noticed in "Hoosier History" reference to the "Sons of Liberty," a treasonable organization which existed during the Civil War, and which was organized for the purpose of assisting the Southern Confederacy. This subject called up old reminiscences. I came to Huntington, Indiana, from Germany at the age of 15 years, in the year 1869. This was only a few years after the close of the Civil War, and the subject of this war and its attendant phases were still the talk of the day.

Those who have studied Indiana history will remember that several leaders of the "Sons of Liberty" were arrested and convicted of treason and were to be shot. One of these men was Colonel L. P. Millikan, a lawyer and a resident of Huntington.

Col. Millikan was an unusually tall and broad-chested man, with a long thin nose, heavy eyebrows and piercing eyes—in short, with a countenance like that usually given "Uncle Sam." He wore "broadfall" pants, a continental swallow-tail coat (not a "society" swallow-tail coat) and an old-style plug hat. He looked the typical Yankee. He was a fine speaker and a good campaigner for the Democratic party, but having been convicted of treason, his campaign speeches lost considerable of their force.

I was personally well acquainted with Col. Millikan, as it was he who taught and drilled me in the pronunciation of certain English words, and particularly to pronounce the "wh" in such words as "which," "what" etc. The English pronunciation of "wh" is difficult for foreigners and it took considerable practice to learn it, but I finally did on account of my youth.

Col. Millikan's residence was about a half mile west of Huntington, along the Wabash railroad. When his arrest was made for treason, a special train came from Indianapolis and stopped in front of his house. The Colonel was or claimed to be sick at the time, but the officers carried him to the train in his cot and returned to Indianapolis.

In the subsequent trial Mr. Millikan, along with the other men, was found guilty and were to be shot, but Governor Morton afterwards pardoned them.

The Colonel lived to a ripe old age, and towards the last his connection with this treasonable society of "The Sons of Liberty" was forgiven and forgotten.

HOW PREACHER HANDLED BULLY

Correspondent of Indianapolis News
Recalls Incident in Life of The Famous Jimmy Havens

HIS CHILDREN LIVE HERE

He Had to "Lay Out" Disturber at Decatur County Camp Meeting to Restore Order

F. M. Wiley, in a contribution to the Indianapolis News concerning "Pioneer Camp Meetings; How Some Preachers Met Bullies," devotes most of the article to dealing with some incidents in the life of the Rev. Jimmy Havens, who was grandfather of Mrs. John P. Frazee, Mrs. A. L. Riggs, Will E. Havens, Homer, Lon, R. P., George and Mrs. F. B. Johnson of this city. One especially amusing story is recalled of a camp meeting down in Decatur county as follows:

The famous Jimmy Havens was once preaching at a camp meeting in Decatur county, which the writer's grandfather attended, when such a gang, led by a big bruiser who was the bully of his community, came in and began to interrupt the services. Mr. Havens asked them to please be quiet and not to disturb the meeting, but, of course, they paid no attention to his request. Going down from the platform Mr. Havens, who was a man of powerful physique, cast iron courage, and besides was a skilful boxer, walked quietly back to where the big tough and his gang were and began trying to reason with them. But with an oath the big bruiser launched a blow at the minister's head. Mr. Havens ducked the swing, and like a flash, landed his right on the point of his opponent's jaw and the tough went down and out, for in falling he struck the end of a bench and broke his right arm near the elbow. Of course, there was no more fight left in him. And his followers did not stand on the order of their going, but vanished at once. Mr. Havens had the man taken to his own cabin, and summoning a doctor, helped to set and bind up the broken arm, kept him over night and hunted up a vehicle to take him to his home.

But while a few sinners got their limbs or their heads broken at those picturesque meetings in the woods, many more had their hearts broken by the fiery gospel which was vigorously expounded from those rustic pulpits. And as the preachers talked of righteousness, temperance and especially of a judgment to come, their vivid descriptions of the final abode of the unrepentant were reinforced by the lurid lights of the blazing fires which lighted the grounds. And the bench which served as an altar would often be crowded with the penitents while the camp would resound with their prayers and lamentations, and while the triumphant shouts of the converts who had passed from the depths of despair to the heights of ecstasy.

The purpose of those meetings was wholly religious. No attempt at education or entertainment was made and those features, while by no means entirely lacking, were incidental. Probably most of the campers continued to sop their bread in the gravy and to drink their coffee out of their saucers, as they did before.

But merely by attrition some of their rough edges would be smoothed and unconsciously they acquired, no doubt, many new ideas and ideals of life, which enabled them to grow somewhat in graces, as well as in grace. And that many of the conversions at those rustic altars, which were accompanied with so much commotion as well as emotion, were real and radical changes of the hearts and souls of the converts was attested by their exemplary lives afterward. And not a few of the baser sort who came to scoff and interrupt, remained to pray, and were transformed, in a marvelous way not only into earnest Christians, but into good citizens.

Among that rugged, ready and resourceful group of men, the pioneer preachers, James Havens was conspicuous. With a strong mind in a powerful body, quick in thought and action, with unflinching courage and plenty of tact, he would have been a leader anywhere. It was told of him that starting at one time on a new circuit he was going to a place in the region of Cambridge City, where he was to preach, when near some crossroads place he was stopped by a big, tough looking fellow wearing a blacksmith's apron, who roughly inquired if he was the new preacher. Receiving an affirmative reply, he demanded that Mr. Havens get off his horse and get ready to fight, saying that he had licked every preacher who had come into that neighborhood, and it was now Mr. Havens' turn to be whipped. Mr. Havens demurred, insisting that he came as a friend to all, and that there was no occasion for any trouble between them. But the blacksmith insisted on a fight. So Mr. Havens dismounted and, tying his horse to a sapling, said that he never engaged in anything without first offering a prayer, and asked time to pray before the fight began. To this the other man grudgingly agreed, and Mr. Havens knelt down with at least one eye wide open, and prayed earnestly that he might be forgiven for his part in the wicked fight that was about to take place.

And as he would probably kill this foolish man, he prayed with especial fervor, that the charge of murder might not be recorded against him on high, and that God might deal mercifully with the soul of this wretched sinner, which was about to appear unscrupulous in His awful presence. Hearing the brush cracking, Mr. Havens looked up and saw the big blacksmith, who, apparently had just remembered some pressing engagement elsewhere, disappearing into the bushes. Mr. Havens called after him that he was now ready to fight, but his late challenger did not stop. It was said that Mr. Havens used to tell this story with great glee as showing the saving efficacy of earnest prayer.

DRESS WARM AND KEEP FEET DRY

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts and Get Rid of Uric Acid.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. If not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water, drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

Society and Club News

Edited by MISS FRANCES FRAZEE

Any items concerning your clubs, church organizations, entertainments, your friends or yourself, which you may send in, will be appreciated by the editor and readers of this column. Either mail or phone them to 1111, 3 rings, as soon as possible after their occurrence.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Christian church will hold the regular bi-monthly meeting in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon.

A dinner-dance will be given at the Social Club tomorrow evening. Aside from the regular dishes, the guests are requested to bring sauce dishes for the dinner.

Mrs. Ernest Mitchell will entertain the members of the Psi Iota Xi sorority at her home tomorrow evening. An interesting literary program has been planned and a large attendance is urged to enjoy it.

The Loyal Daughters of the Christian church will be entertained tomorrow evening by the Misses Letitia Creekmore, Geneva Crull and Mrs. Ethel Harrell, at the home of Miss Creekmore at 307 East Eighth street. All the members of the class are invited and urged to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Buell entertained with an elaborate chicken dinner at their home yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. William Arnold. The table was made attractive with cut flowers for the occasion, which afforded an unusually pleasant day for those present.

The Misses Genevieve Brown and Helen Scott entertained with a dinner party Saturday evening, which was small in the number of guests but large in the number of dainty dishes served. Each one of the things which went to make up the elaborate menu was delicious and was beautifully served. A pleasant social hour featured the evening.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB.

The plays of Bernard Shaw will be interestingly discussed at the meeting of the Shakespeare Club tomorrow evening when it will be entertained by the Misses Katherine Petry, Lois Fritter, and Edith Caldwell at the home of Miss Petry at 631 North Sexton street. The study will be preparatory to the lecture to be given to the club by Dr. Jenkins of Indiana University.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Honoring her seventh birthday Milvina Cross was a charming little hostess to several of her friends Saturday afternoon when she entertained them with a theatre party.

The merry crowd of little people attended the "movie" and afterwards enjoyed a round of fun at the home of the hostess. In the delightful refreshments served, was included a birthday cake brilliantly lit with seven candles.

DINNER PARTY.

Mrs. Mary A. Sherman was the guest of honor at the dinner party that she gave on her eighty-third birthday, yesterday at the home of her son, Ed Sherman, and family. The elaborate dinner and pleasant social day was greatly enjoyed by the congenial party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Sherman and son Charles, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Harrold, and daughter Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sherman and children and W. S. Conde.

EMBROIDERY CLUB

The members of the Embroidery Club had an unusually delightful meeting Saturday afternoon, when they were charmingly entertained by Miss Pearl Kitchen at her home in West Third street. The meeting was made especially pleasant by nearly every member being present to enjoy the afternoon of sewing and chatting with congenial company. Near the close of the afternoon the twenty-five guests were invited into the dining room, made attractive for the occasion, where the dainty buffet luncheon was served. With Miss Katherine Petry presiding gracefully over the coffee urn and Mrs. Glen Thomas, of Chicago, and Miss Carrie Kitchen gracefully assisting in the serving, the guests were bountifully helped to the numerous dainty dishes prepared for the occasion.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Honoring the birthday of Theodore Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Osborne entertained a congenial company of friends with a delightful all-day party at their hospitable home south of the city yesterday. The hostess chose as the tasteful color scheme pink and white and carried it out with a profusion of beautiful pink carnations. A huge bouquet of them, tastefully arranged with greenery, characterized the center of the festive board, around which the guests gathered to enjoy the sumptuous dinner, elaborate in its menu and charming in its appointments. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in conversation, enlivened by several well-rendered musical numbers. Those enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Osborne were Mr. and Mrs. Elsa Hillgoss and daughter, Lavin, Mr. and Mrs. Chase Cross and daughter, Olive Frances, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. Dora Hillgoss and grandson.

PITCH-IN SUPPER.

The hospitable home of Miss Besie and James Morris, north of the city was the setting for a merry scene last evening when a number of their friends gathered to enjoy that popular form of entertainment which promises an elaborate dinner, with little trouble to all the participants—a pitch-in supper. When the contents of each of the well-filled baskets had been placed on the table, it was a bountiful spread to behold. The guests, however, report today that they did full justice to the work of the efficient cooks, who had aspired to and reached culinary heights in the elaborate supper. A pleasant and informal social evening was spent, in the spacious rooms of the Morris home. Those participating in this delightful evening were Mr. and Lowell Gartin, Mr. and Mrs.

Charles Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Chase Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gartin, Mr. and Mrs. Don Newkirk, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McManus, Mr. and Mrs. Court Oldham, the Misses Carrie McManus, Dora Winkler and Goldie Newhouse and Clarence Newhouse.

Amusements

The Gem will show a three reel comedy "He Was Only a Bathing Suit Salesman" for the program tonight. Harry Myers and Rosemary They are featured and is said to be a fine comedy with plenty of punch. The scenes are laid in New York, Philadelphia and Washington. Tomorrow night the eighteenth episode of "The Broken Coin" will be shown and on Wednesday Hank Mann will be seen in the big comedy "Disguised but Discovered."

The William Fox production "Carmen" will be the attraction at the Princess tonight. Theda Bara is featured. It is taken from the stage success. The story of Carmen is well known needs no relating. The opera is of universal appeal and undying popularity. The acting is one of the features of the picture and the work of Theda Bara is said to be unequalled. Tomorrow night the three act feature "Hereditry" will be shown.

NEW OFFER OF PEACE.

Rome, Jan. 22.—Austria has made a fresh offer of peace to Serbia, following the failure of negotiations with Montenegrin, according to a Vienna dispatch reaching here today.

FOR BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING COUGH, CROUP, COUGHS AND COLDS.

Make the Best Remedy at Home— 128 Teaspoonful For 50 Cents.

If everything was sold in as liberal and fair a manner as Fox Bros. are selling Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectorant, absolutely no cause for complaint or dissatisfaction could possibly arise from anyone. These druggists say—"Buy a bottle of this remedy and try it for Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Severe Cough, Croup or any Bronchial Affection, and we will return your money, just as we do with Schiffmann's famous Asthmador, if it does not give satisfaction, or if not found the best remedy ever used for any of these complaints." Why not take advantage of this guarantee and try this medicine, and get your money back, rather than buying another purely on the exaggerated claims of its manufacturer or on the strength of testimonials from others and run the chance of getting something worthless and also wasting your money?

In buying this remedy, besides securing an absolute guarantee of its efficiency from these druggists, you also get about eight times as much medicine as you would in buying most any of the old-fashioned, ready-made kinds, which average from 20 to 32 teaspoonful, because 50c worth makes a whole pint (128 teaspoonful) when mixed at home with simply one pint of sugar and one-half pint of water. This remedy positively does not contain chloroform, opium, morphine or any other narcotic. It is pleasant to take and children are fond of it. You will be the sole judge, and under this positive guarantee absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy. Druggists everywhere are authorized to sell it under the same guarantee as Schiffmann's famous Asthmador of "Money Back" if not perfectly satisfactory. R. J. Schiffmann, Proprietor, St. Paul, Minn.

DESPAIRING WOMAN NOW HAPPY MOTHER

Mrs. Stephens Did Not Need The Surgical Operation.

Patoka, Ill.—"I had been married five years and my greatest desire was to become a mother. The doctor said I never would have a child unless I was operated on for female troubles and I had given up all hopes when a friend told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly for sometime, and I am in better health than ever, and have a healthy baby girl. I praise your Vegetable Compound for my baby and my better health. I want all suffering women to know that it is the sure road to health and happiness."—Mrs. GEORGE STEPHENS, R. F. D. No. 3, Patoka, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO BOY

Four Others in A. G. Fleetwood's Family Have Same Disease

With his three brothers and mother lying sick in the house with the same disease, Raymond Fleetwood, age sixteen years, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Fleetwood, south of Milroy, died Sunday of pneumonia after sickness of only a week's duration. The funeral was held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Milroy M. E. church and burial was made in the Milroy cemetery. Besides the parents, he is survived by three brothers and one sister, all of whom live at home.

RAILROAD DIKE AT HOLLIS GIVES WAY

Highest Water in History of Peoria, Illinois is Expected by Tonight at 25-Foot Stage.

STOOD AT 22.7 FEET AT 7 A. M.

(By United Press.) Peoria, Ill., Jan. 24.—The Peoria & Pekin union railroad dike at Hollis yielded to the Illinois river flood early today and water is pouring over property on the west side of the stream. The terminal dike guarding the marsh drainage district near Pekin was still holding but it, too, was threatened. The highest water in the history of Peoria was promised before night. At 7 a. m. the stage was 22.7 feet and a height of more than 25 feet is indicated. The highest former stage was 23 feet in March, 1904. Hundreds of families fled to higher ground for their lives. Scores of persons were rescued in row boats.

U. S. CODE KNOWN IN FOREIGN CAPITALS

CHANGE WILL BE DEMANDED

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN. (U. P. Staff Correspondent.) Berlin, (Via Amsterdam,) Jan. 24.—The supposedly secret diplomatic codes of the United States government are known to practically every belligerent in Europe, it was learned today. Col. E. M. House, who is conferring with American Ambassadors in Europe as the confidential agent of President Wilson will have this fact impressed upon him before he returns to America. Through him the state department will be asked to change its cipher.

It is now impossible for any diplomatic agent of the United States in Europe to cable a message to Washington without the certainty that it will be transmitted without its contents being known in Europe. In some instances officials of more than one belligerent country can know the contents of such a message before it reaches Washington.

BOMBARD DOVER STATION

German Naval Aeroplanes Also Attack Barracks and Docks.

Berlin, (Via Sayville,) Jan. 24.—German naval aeroplanes bombarded the station at Dover, England the barracks and the docks early Sunday, the admiralty announced today.

Dover is a city of about 45,000,66 miles southeast of London. The German admiralty statement apparently casts doubt upon the report that London may have been attacked by the German aviator. upon the tide baker's Sna.45. yq many Progressives hold against him. As far as the public was concerned, New's activity in bringing about the nomination of Taft ended at the convention.

RACE GOING TO BE A TIGHT ONE

He is not a speaker of the Watson type, and naturally he did not get into the limelight in a manner that Watson did. Probably it is largely on that account that the rank and file of the Progressives do not regard him in the same attitude they have manifested toward Watson.

According to Johnson, who is now one of the managers of James E. Watson's candidacy, there is no strong disposition among the former Progressives to demand the nomination of Colonel Roosevelt for the presidency. He believes that most of them are ready to co-operate with the Republican party straight down the line. Johnson has found a good deal of sentiment among the Indiana Progressives favoring the nomination of Justice Hughes.

PECULIAR FACTS ABOUT WELL KNOWN PEOPLE

Santa Rosa, Cal., Jan. 24.—Luther Burbank, the wizard of things that grow realizes that he is so "easy" for anyone who wants his money for this that and the other, (and plenty of persons do), that he employed pretty little Miss Bessie Waters to scrutinize every proposition offered him, to decide whether it is legitimate. Miss Waters attends all Burbank's interviews and is asked to give her advice quite frequently.

Don't Take A Chance

Rushville People Should Act in Time.

If you suffer from backache; If you have headaches, dizzy spells

If the kidney secretions are irregular,

Don't delay—likely your kidneys are sick.

Rushville people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here's a Rushville man's experience:

M. Conner, cigar mfg., 1001 N. Harrison St., Rushville, says:

"I had backaches and pains through my kidneys. My kidneys were irregular in action. Doan's Kidney Pills stopped the pain in my back and regulated the kidney action."

The above statement was given on July 22, 1912, and on Aug. 25, 1915, Mr. Conner said: "I haven't had occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills since giving my former endorsement, telling what they did for me. I believe the cure is permanent."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Conner, has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. (Advertisement.)

SECOND SEMESTER OF SCHOOL STARTS

Increase in Attendance Will be Shown, Supt. Scholl Says, Because New Pupils Entered.

SPECIAL COURSES OFFERED

The second semester got under way today in the public schools. The attendance at all of the buildings has not been checked as yet, but an increase will be shown as several new pupils entered. The attendance in the combined high schools reached 338. The class entering high school numbered eighteen.

Several special courses are offered at this time because the work in the general courses starts in the fall. In place of general science the new pupils in the high school are offered an advanced study in geography pertaining especially to political and geographical conditions in Europe. A short story course is also offered and a brief review of grammar and civics complete the list of new subjects. Supt. Scholl stated today that the outlook for a successful term was bright.

PREPARE FOR THE PRIMARY

Both Political Parties Open Headquarters For Campaign.

It begins to look as though a political campaign was on in earnest. Both parties have opened headquarters, which is considered rather unusual at this time of the year, so far in advance of the real campaign. The reason for this is the primary. The primary really means a separate campaign and both the Republicans and Democrats are preparing for it. The Democratic central committee opened the room over the Powell pool room in Main street today. The Republican headquarters over the Callaghan dry goods store in Second street have been opened for the past week.
